The fine print

What is optional life insurance?

There can often be a financial impact associated with the big events in our life. Planning for these events in advance, with insurance, can help ease financial stress on you and your family.

Optional life insurance offers a one-time payment that can help take care of the people you love when you're not there.

Why do you need optional life insurance?

Ease financial hardship for your loved ones

Did you know that 1 in 5 households would experience financial adversity immediately if a primary wage earner died suddenly?¹ With life insurance, family remains the number one priority when you can't be there, not money.

Security and protection for the family

Funeral expenses, debts, paying for your children's future education. Could your family afford these and more without you?

Other insurance may not offer enough coverage

Fill financial gaps from your group basic life insurance with optional life insurance and feel good about your family's future.

An exclusive offer just for you!

Coverage available in units of $10,000

- $10,000 to $300,000 for yourself

What is critical illness insurance?

Critical illness insurance offers a one-time payment² if you are diagnosed with a life-changing illness like a stroke, heart attack or cancer. This can help you focus on your recovery, knowing that you'll have money to help with your expenses.

Why do you need critical illness insurance?

Recovery takes time

Focusing on your recovery takes time and comes with financial costs. You may have to take more time off work than expected. A loved one may have to do the same to help care for you.

Other insurance may not offer enough coverage

Other insurance or government health plans may not give you the financial support you need. Help fill those financial gaps with critical illness insurance.

Cover your daily costs

You can choose how to spend the money, whether for childcare, household or personal care expenses, among other things.

Protect your savings

You've worked hard to save over the years. Without critical illness insurance, you might have to dip into your savings to pay for additional medical costs.

A limited-time offer just for you!

Apply within 31 days of your workplace benefits start date and get coverage from:

- $20,000 to $50,000 for yourself
- $20,000 for your spouse

All without answering any health questions.³

² Diagnosis of a critical illness must occur after the effective date of coverage and you must complete a survival period (usually 30 days). Payment is made if we approve your claim.

³ If you had an injury, sickness or medical condition in the 12 months before the effective date of coverage that was checked by a doctor or health-care provider (or even if it should have but wasn't) and it results in a covered condition within the first 12 months after your effective date of coverage, you aren't covered for that condition.

⁴ If you and/or your spouse apply for coverage which, combined with any existing optional coverage through your employer, is more than the amounts specified above, we'll ask some health questions.

⁵ This value-added service is included with the purchase of some critical illness or personal health insurance plans from Sun Life.

⁶ Rates are calculated based on your age, gender and smoking status as of the effective date of coverage. Rates are reviewed every year, may change, and will increase as you move into the next age band. Premiums may be subject to applicable provincial sales tax. See your benefits booklet for the full definitions of the covered conditions.

⁷ There are coverage maximums that apply when you convert your Optional Life Insurance from a group to an individual insurance plan. They vary depending on where you live.

More of the details

You may cancel any Optional Life or Optional Critical Illness insurance benefit at any time. If you cancel within 30 days from the effective date of coverage, we'll return your premiums. Contact your Benefits Administrator to make the request.

You must be actively at work to enrol in or increase coverage, and for coverage to take effect for you (and/or your spouse or dependent children, if applicable).
